DEDICATION

We, the class of 1954, dedicate this year's annual in memory of two of our classmates, Pauline Decker and Richard Seymour, who were loved and admired by all.

Pauline Decker, a Sophomore, was an ideal student and person. A smile that revealed a happy nature, a politeness that showed good parental training, an eagerness for ideas that marked scholarly instinct, and a vivid interest in a cultural development of the arts and music made her a lovely example of one of God's children. The school of her classmates, friends and faculty all expressed deep remorse when it was learned that she had been summoned to the new class in the great and mysterious eternity.

Richard Seymour, a Senior, was an ideal student and a gentleman. Richard always had a smile that revealed his happy nature, and he was always friendly and was willing to work. Dick, as he was formerly known, was popular with students and teachers. Dick enjoyed living and was happy at whatever he was doing and never seemed to have a cross word for anyone. Dick's wonderful characteristics made him a fine example to all.

JOURNEYED THROUGH THE

me appeared the best school in the ROOMS OF K. H. S. world---Kenton High

I,
Lo and behold before

First I noticed the "unseen workshop"

Where they gave excuses and
were granted their pardons

A friend in need is a friend
indeed

Here they learned and left the arts of speech

I JOURNEYED ON

Where they learned the value of X and received O's.

Here is where they teach "Live" students the "Dead" Language.

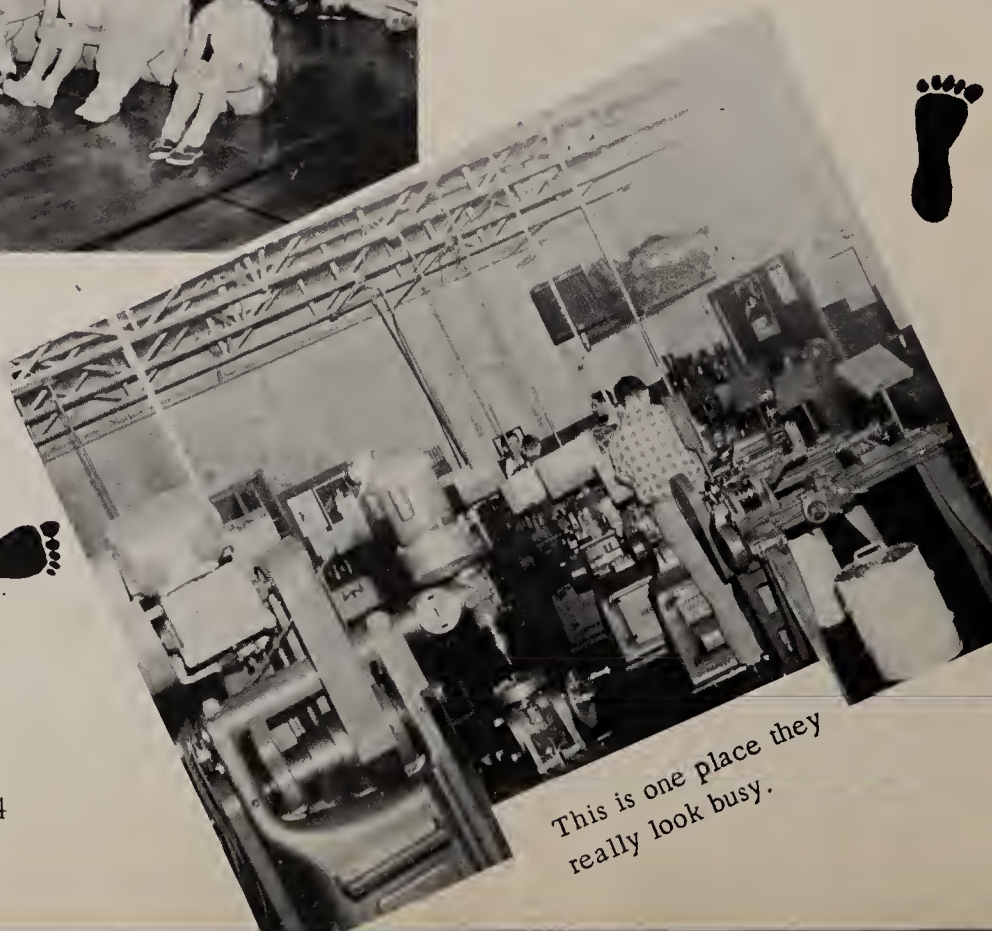

So what is so interesting in the back of the room?

I journeyed on and here I met 28 KHS Amazons.

Honest, is it that difficult!

This is one place they really look busy.

I JOURNEYED on

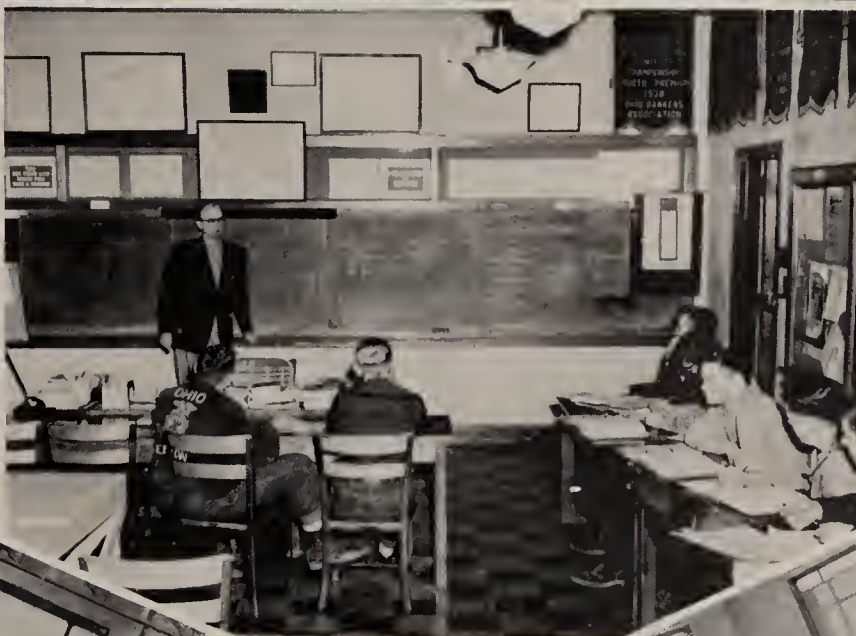

Stand back girls, it might explode!

Here I noticed Kenton's lumber jacks.

Oh yes! A stitch in time saves nine.

A successful farmer of tomorrow is a Future Farmer of today.

It came from outer space-
Oh, No! It's a plow!

The thundering eighty is now minus seventy-nine.

I JOURNEYED ON

Behind these curtains
many great dramatic productions took place.

Ah, yes! And Ivanhoe said to his lovely Rebecca---

Culture is the sum total ways of living.

The A B C's are being learned in this room.

Well, the teacher's influence is here even if she isn't.

This year's Editor hands
the adventure of the year book to next year's Editor.

I JOURNEYED ON

Here they learn how to bisect worms for the cafeteria.

Here they learn how to dodge pedestrains! (From the empty seats, someone didn't dodge them.)

Silhouettes and angles are the subject in this department.

With one glance I knew they were Freshmen. Look at them study!

So this is where they consume their PEP for the coming afternoon!

Here is where the "Little Dears" learn to shoot spit balls! (I got hit.)

I JOURNEYED ON TO THE END

And here is the place where they gather a little extra education.

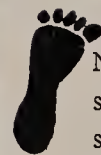

Well, if you can't write, you can always type.

I just happened to arrive here in time to hear Mr. Martin get off another "funny".

In here they are learning (or trying to learn) a new weird style of writing (or is it scribbling).

Now that you and I have seen the rooms, let's see the students, organizations, and activities of the High School!

SYLVESTER SPOOK

Here they learn about figures, solids, and curves... it's a math class... but where are the students?

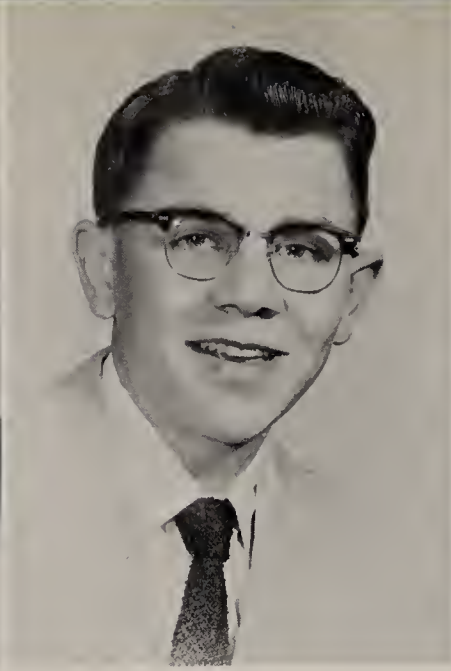

Here is a directed class on, "How to make stink-bombs in an attempt to dismiss class."

KENTON IN TOURNEY FINALS

RUNNER-UP TEAM -- The Kenton Wildcats, with their Coach George A. Keel, and his assistant James Miller, (the first Kenton aggregation to advance to the finals in almost 20 years) are pictured displaying their trophy as the runner-up team in the sectional tournament.

The boys, in spite of the fact they lost to Central (fourth straight year tourney winner) Saturday night in Bluffton, have a record of which Kenton is proud. A.C. Burcky, tourney manager, in presenting Kenton its trophy called the Wildcats, "the giant killers of the tournament.

HOMECOMING QUEEN AND COURT

The fourteenth annual Homecoming was held October 30, in the cleverly decorated gym following the football game between Kenton and Celina.

Wearing the traditional red robe lined with white satin, Miss Serena Sams, chosen 1953 Homecoming Queen, with her escort, Jim Hogan, walked down the white carpeted aisle which led to her beautifully decorated throne.

As the football players stood as an honor guard, the attendants followed the Queen. The attendants were: Senior, Dorothy Steiner escorted by Virgil Deardorff; Junior, Dana Daniels escorted by Tim Poland; Sophomore, Vonda Anderson escorted by Clyde Lamb and Freshman, Joyce Blumenschine escorted by Bob Buttermann.

The Queen was crowned by Miss Faith Blumenschine, Queen of 1952, and after a short speech Queen Serena and her escort led the grand march.

Mack Finch's orchestra provided music from 10 P.M. until 1 A.M. and an enjoyable time was had by all.

NEW YEAR'S DANCE

On the evening of January 1, 1954, seventy-five couples, consisting of students and Alumni, "dawned their gay apparel" for the annual holiday dance in the Kenton High School gymnasium. The dance was sponsored by the Student Council whose committees were in charge of tickets, decoration, music, and refreshments. The proceeds went to the Art Fund to purchase pictures for the school. Mack Finch and his orchestra furnished music from 9:00 to 12:00.

SENIOR PLAY

Talk louder, know your lines, be on time, were some of the echoes heard coming from the auditorium. Yes, the Senior Play was in full swing under the direction of Miss Isabelle Sloan. My Little Margie was chosen for this year's production which was presented February 17 and 18. This portrayed another hilarious episode in the life of Margie and Vern Albright and their many TV associates.

Included in the cast as Margie, a girl with so much mind of her own that other people are apt to lose theirs, was Cynthia White; Vern, her father, Tom Rubins; Freddie, a young man with normal common-sense, except where Margie is concerned, Bob Buttermann; Roberta, an attractive, sophisticated career woman whom Margie likes, but hesitates to accept as a stepmother, was Jane Malone; Mrs. Odets, the nice old lady across the hall, whose idea of aging gracefully is to keep moving faster, preferable on roller skates, Sue Dungan; Mr. Honeywell, Vern's iron-fisted boss, Dick Chalfin; Sir Nasif, Frank Otto; Madame Nasif, Doris Lowe; The Nurse, Sharon Smith; the Assassin, Marvin Haas; Miss Sherman, the efficient secretary, Sandra Coffey; and Bill, the elevator boy, Arden Spitzer.

The play was under the direction of Miss Sloan and Serena Sams was Student Director.
